Revolution Faces 'Model Kingdom' of Malay Siam

King Prajadhipok, 1931 U. S. Visitor, Is Jailed by Army

Woman Flier Telephones News From Bangkok to Wires in Berlin

HISTORY OF NATION

Chinese Pirate Rescued People From Burmese Invasions in 18th Century

BERLIN, Germany. (AP)—Marga von Etzdorf, German woman flier, telephoned the newspaper Vossische Zeitung from Bangkok, Siam, Friday saying that the army had mutinied and seized the royal family as hostages to insure the success of the revolution.

A "Model Kingdom"

King Prajadhipok, 38-year-old king of Siam, came to the United States last year for an operation to remove cataracts from his eyes, accompanied by his young wife, Queen Rambai Barni. The royal couple were housed in a millionaire's home, Ophir Hall, in the Flaming, N. Y., and fared by the nation, proving to be a democratic and likable pair.

Although an absolute ruler, King Prajadhipok enjoyed the reputation of being a constitutional monarch. His predecessor, his brother Rama the Sixth, and he introduced modern utilities and conveniences in Bangkok, their capital city. Upon leaving the United States last year, King Prajadhipok told newspaper men he expected to introduce a certain amount of representative government when he returned to Siam.

"Siamese Twins"

Political trouble in the Kingdom of Siam recalls the fact that it was this little nation which gave the name "Siamese Twins" to the world. In 1811 two children born to Chinese parents in Siam proved to be united as one body. They toured Europe and America as a physiological freak two generations ago. They died in 1874, one surviving the other 2 1/2 hours.

The ancient Siamese government vests supreme power in the king, who is assisted by a consultative council of four elder statesmen of the royal household, and by an advisory council consisting of the ministers of state and other high officials. The cabinet council functions as the legislative arm of the government.

Until very recently the priests had complete charge of education. The Siamese and Malays, and their religion is Mohammedan. In the capital city of Bangkok and the provinces the government now maintains many schools, among them, cadet colleges and medical, civil service, law and engineering colleges which have been incorporated into the new Bangkok university.

Dates Back to 1300

The history of Siam dates back to 1300, when King Rama Thiboda built a city named Ayutthia on the site of a still more ancient town, and made it his capital. He extended the Siamese power southward into the Malay peninsula. For 200 years peace and prosperity reigned, and Ayutthia became a large and rich city.

In 1759 the Burmese captured Ayutthia and after a long struggle conquered the whole country, 1767. They introduced a king of their own, and upon the withdrawal of their army, anarchy followed.

A Chinaman, the leader of a band of pirates, seized Bangkok, as the capital city had come to be known, and to the great joy of the people expelled the last of the Burmese invaders. This Chinaman proclaimed himself king, taking the title Phya Tak.

He extended his power southward and eastward, but was assassinated in 1782 by one of his generals, Yut Fa, who established the present dynasty. The present king is the eighth in that line.

Siam was opened up to world trade in 1820, secured by a treaty with Great Britain in 1826.

Siam was on the side of the Allies in the World War, had delegates at the peace conference and became a member of the League of Nations.

Bandits Brought Captives to Hope

Man and Wife Forced to Drive Them Through This City

MURFREESBORO, (AP)—John Thomas and Walter Bearden, confessed Louisiana bandits and kidnapers, were removed from jail here Friday by Louisiana officers and taken to an unannounced jail in Louisiana to await trial for slaying Deputy Sheriff Ferguson in a gun battle in Richland parish last Tuesday following the robbing of a Basking bank.

The officers spirited the bandits away to prevent the federal government trying them under a new interstate kidnapping law signed Wednesday by President Hoover.

The bandits had kidnapped Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor of near Monroe, La., and carried them through Hope Thursday morning to Gladwood where officers halted the party.

Son Is Recovering, Says Dr. J. H. Weaver

Dr. J. H. Weaver returned home Thursday from a hurried trip to Arlington, Texas, where he visited his son, Dr. R. E. Weaver of Longview, Texas, who was injured in an automobile accident last Saturday night, his wife being killed. Young Mrs. Weaver's sister, Mrs. Jack Brown, whom the Weavers were taking to her home in Arlington from an operation at a Longview hospital when the accident occurred, also was injured.

Classy Airport

SAN JOSE, C. R.—There's nothing common about the airport maintained here. Some time ago the entire airport force went back into the hill and mountain district and gathered more than 300 orchids. These have been translated on posts bordering the driveway around the port. At the present market price of orchids in New York, the fence is thought to be worth $1500 for its flowers alone.

Ice Company Files Injunction; Claims Law to Be Invalid

Suit Launched at Little Rock to Restrain R. R. Commission

PRICE IS 50 CENTS

Reduced Price Continues—City to Go to Polls July 5

Although it had complied with the Arkansas Railroad Commission's order reducing the cash delivered price of ice to 50 cents a hundred in Hope, the Southern Ice & Utilities Co. late Thursday obtained a temporary injunction in Pulaski county at Little Rock restraining the railroad commission from enforcing its orders.

The company's petition alleges that the Arkansas ice law is unconstitutional, and declares that "the reduction was ordered without a hearing and that the cut in the retail price was confiscatory."

The railroad commission held a hearing in Hope city hall June 18, after which the reduction order was made effective.

Postponement Refused

Counsel appearing for the ice company attempted to obtain a postponement of the hearing, alleging that the company did not have all the data required for a complete discussion of the case. The City of Hope objected, however, and the commission ordered that the hearing proceed.

The Hope plant of the Southern Ice & Utilities Co. said its ice men were continuing to deliver at the 50-cent price despite the injunction suit. Coupon books are not being offered as yet, Manager Spraggins said, but he declared that only because the company did not have printed coupon books this season, and that when these are available the deliveries will offer them to household customers.

To Vote July 5

Any uncertainty as to whether the city government would proceed with its plan for a referendum on a municipal ice plant, since the Southern Ice & Utilities Co. complied with a rate-reduction order, was removed Friday when Mayor John P. Vesey issued a special election proclamation for Tuesday, July 5.

The election, as declared at the council meeting last Tuesday night, was originally set for July 1—but action was held up when the ice company Wednesday morning suddenly complied with the rate reduction order of the Arkansas Railroad Commission.

Following a conference with members of the city council Thursday, Mayor Vesey announced a new date for the referendum, at which time the electors will vote on the question whether or not the city shall build, maintain and operate an ice plant.

A $15,000 appropriation for construction of the plant was authorized by the city council some time ago, subject to approval at the special election.

Yerger P. T. A. Will Serve Station Lunch

The Parent-Teacher association of the H. C. Yerger high school is planning to serve 200 plate lunches during the annual negro visiting day at the Fruit and Truck Experiment station Saturday.

The negro teacher's college, which is in a six-weeks' session here, will be dismissed Saturday afternoon to allow the teachers to visit the farm.

Today's cabinet is made up "blue bloods" and "silk stockings," with the military clique theoretically in nominal positions but, in fact, holding key offices.

Nominator Roosevelt's

Twenty years ago former Justice John E. Mack (above) of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., recapitulated a fight upon powerful Tammany Hall in order to sponsor young Franklin D. Roosevelt in state politics. Now it has been announced that Mack will nominate Roosevelt for President at the Democratic National Convention.

Experiment Farm Gets Crowd 2,000

Large Attendance Friday Despite Overcast Sky, Threat of Rain

More than 2,000 persons, representing 30 Arkansas counties and headed by a score of the state's leading agriculturists, gathered here Friday for the fifth annual visiting day program of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment station.

J. E. Stanford, editor of the Southern Agriculturist, was the principal speaker. Other prominent persons taking part in the program were: T. Roy Reid, assistant director of extension work; E. B. Whitaker, director of the cotton branch experiment station at Marianna; G. H. Banks, director of the rice branch experiment station at Stuttgart; Miss Connie J. Bonstegel, state home demonstration agent; Professor J. R. Cooper, horticulturist of Fayetteville; J. H. Hackman, extension economist, and a number of other extension workers from different sections of the state.

From 9 o'clock until noon visitors were driven over the experiment station in wagons and shown different phases of work by the agriculturists, under direction of George W. Ware, in charge.

An old-fashioned picnic lunch was enjoyed by the increasing crowd at noon. Special amusement numbers, including a radio program by KCMC staff, of Texarkana, were given.

Cut S. A. Time

WASHINGTON—New York and Central and South America have been brought 19 hours closer by the speeding up of the air mail schedule between points on the South American route. Under the new schedule a plane leaving New York at 4 p. m. will reach Miami the next morning at 5:50. From New York to the Canal Zone will take two days; to Lima, Peru, four days; to Buenos Aires, seven days; and to Rio de Janeiro, seven days.

Military Holds Key Posts in Germany—Workers' Rule Loses Out

By TOM WILHELM
BERLIN (AP)—The spear point in the new German regime is General Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense in the cabinet of Franz von Papen.

After 13 years of rule by men who were mostly "self made" and representative of the working class, the German governmental pendulum has swung to the other side. Von Schleicher is generally credited with having been the force behind that movement.

Today's cabinet is made up "blue bloods" and "silk stockings," with the military clique theoretically in nominal positions but, in fact, holding key offices.

Political opponents have dubbed it "the monacle cabinet" because of the preponderance on it of junkers who, in imperial days, were typified by stiffly uniformed army officers with their right optics gleaming through single barreled eye glasses.

Democrats Lined Up For Battle on Two-Thirds Rule

Tennessee Delegate Demands Smith Give Pledge to Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—Governor Murray of Oklahoma predicted Friday that if the Roosevelt forces succeeded in abolishing the two-thirds rule a third party would be set up.

"Why," he will destroy our party if we destroy the two-thirds rule," Alfalfa Bill said.

Senator Glass of Virginia made a sharp attack on the attempt to abrogate the two-thirds rule, terming it unfair, while Senator Long of Louisiana said he would throw the full support of his delegation behind the fight to abrogate it.

Would Bar Al Smith

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—J. M. Gardinier, a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, announced Friday he would sponsor a resolution to deny former Governor Alfred E. Smith the privilege of the convention floor and to declare him ineligible as a presidential candidate "unless and until he assures the delegates he will abide by the action of the convention and support its nominee."

Terral to Speak In Hope Saturday

Former Governor Will Make Address Here at 8 O'Clock

Tom J. Terral, who was governor in 1925-1926 and is now a candidate for that office in the forthcoming Democratic primary, will address the people of Hempstead county in Hope, Saturday, June 25, at 8 p. m.

Mr. Terral was engaged in law practice and the insurance business for the last five years, returning to the political arena this spring to campaign for governor.

He was defeated in a two-man race for re-election in the campaign of 1926 by John E. Martineau. Mr. Terral opposed various plans to refund old district bonds and construct new roads in unbonded counties. Chancellor Martineau espoused the road program which subsequently was given his name, lifting the district road tax off the land and putting it on gasoline fuel.

Mr. Terral's campaign, it is understood, is based on his contention that had he not been defeated by Chancellor Martineau the state would be in a happier frame of mind today.

Germany-China Line

BERLIN—The proposed Berlin-Shanghai air line, which has been in the making for a long time, is expected to be in operation soon. This line, going nearly one-third the distance around the globe, will be flown by Junkers planes of the German Eurasia Aviation Corp., and will maintain passenger and mail service between Berlin, Shanghai, Nanking, Peiping and Thwa.

of the standing force has always been a consideration among politicians. Either its support, or at least a benevolent neutrality, has been a controlling factor whenever venturesome programs were in the making.

Organize Defense

Von Schleicher has been in the thick of things for years. He helped put down the "Spartacus revolt" which enveloped Berlin at the close of the World war, and in 1923-24, when collapse of the mark threatened the existence of the reich, he organized the defense forces of the infant republic.

He hurried entire grades in his pre-war army progress and now, just turned 50, is one of Germany's youngest active generals. But he will go on the retired list if the von Papen cabinet fails to survive the July 31 elections.

He laughs often but his sense of humor is as biting as it is keen. Some call him a "laughing sphinx" because the reason for his mirth is not always comprehended by his auditors.

Shoulder to shoulder with this figure, is that of Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, a 53 year old East Prussian junker who, like most of his class, believes that to the landed gentry belongs a God-given right to rule.

Byrd, Long Shot for Nomination

EX-GOVERNOR HARRY FLOOD BYRD

Former Governor of Virginia, Brother of Explorer, Is Famous Executive Who Converted "Old Dominion's" 11-3-Million-Dollar Deficit Into Surplus of 2 Million

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the fourth in a series of five articles on favorite sons who will figure in the Democratic national convention.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Former Governor Harry Flood Byrd, Virginia's candidate for the presidency, is a "favorite son" in every sense of the term.

Virginia's 24 delegates will vote for him at the Democratic national convention and he will control them throughout because he is unquestionably Democratic boss of the state.

Furthermore, there is a popular enthusiasm for him among Virginians which indicates that his name is not merely being used as a hitching post pending a political trade.

Byrd is not considered more than a long shot in the contest for the presidential nomination, but he will be one of the four or five outstanding possibilities when the party picks a man to run for the vice presidency.

The fact that the party doesn't like to pick first place candidates from southern states is his chief handicap insofar as the higher honor is concerned.

He is a big man, successful in state government, in politics, in business—including farming, and in human relationships.

A member of the Democratic national committee, he has had the respect and the attention of both the Roosevelt and Smith factions. He is said to have influenced Chairman Raskob to make his wet fight for a referendum rather than for repeal. Byrd was one of the first prominent southerners to urge a referendum.

He shines as a "harmony man." Long ago he united two factions of Democracy in his state. His referendum proposal drew commendation from both Raskob and Bishop Cannon. He probably will be a real power at the Chicago convention especially if his talents as a maker of harmony are required.

Good Story Told Audit Commission By Job Teamster

Blackwood and Leggett for Had Boats on White River

HIRE LOTS OF HELP

So Many Teams That Some of Them Stood in the Shade

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—One mile gravel road leading to a boat landing on the White River in Arkansas county, declared to have been built chiefly for the owners of boats including Chairman Dwight H. Blackwood of the State Highway Commission, figured testimony before the Highway Audit Commission Friday.

Bob Davis, the teamster on the job, testified that he had local dunking for the road as "bull," although it was a demand to build it on the river side of the White river to connect with another road.

Blackwood, Davis said, had a boat on the river near the place where the road was built, and Representative Deane of Arkansas county, owned a ferry near the site.

Teams Stood in Shade

The road was started, Davis said, just before the August, 1930, primary, and he testified that in an effort to give everybody a job, several teams more than were needed were hired, and some stood in the shade much of the time.

Davis testified that all teamsters except himself were paid by "rotten" E. D. Hunt by his personal checks at a lower rate than the standard of the State Highway Department.

A Fine Road Suggested

At the evening session of the audit committee Friday afternoon, a number of daily and weekly newspaper publishers be held to investigate the order of construction, candidates and discuss holding a straw vote, suggesting to support openly the winning candidates, and thus provide a substitute for the preferential primary.

L. A. Foster Names Taxpayers Group

Executive Committee of Seven Is Announced Friday

An executive committee of seven, six from Hope and one from Blewett, was appointed Friday by L. A. Foster, chairman of the Hempstead County Taxpayers association, which had been formed Thursday at a meeting in the city hall.

The executive committee are: Steve Carrigan, E. S. Greening, W. K. Lemley, J. H. Kent, W. G. Cox, and S. H. Bryant, all of Hope, and J. A. Wade, of Blewett.

A second meeting of the association is to be held in Hope next Thursday, June 30. The association at its first meeting advocated sweeping reductions in officials' salaries and curtailment of tax costs.

Company Has Asked for It.

AFTER complying with the Railroad Commission's order to reduce the delivered price of ice in Hope from 60 cents to 50 cents, the Southern Ice & Utilities Co. turned around Thursday and obtained a temporary injunction in Pulaski circuit court at Little Rock to restrain the commission from enforcing its order.

The company now claims that the Arkansas ice law is unconstitutional.

But the Arkansas law was proposed by the ice companies and was adopted by the legislature in 1929 under the companies' guarantee that if given a regulated price structure for several years they would be able to reduce the cost to the consumers.

Bear in mind that the monopoly feature of the ice law was stricken out a year and a half ago. Price-regulation was maintained, at least in the state courts.

So long as the regulatory law allowed the Southern Ice Co. to charge 50 cents it was constitutional—but the minute that the people obtained an order reducing the price to 60 cents it was unconstitutional.

The first principle of regulation is that it work both ways.

The Southern Ice has breached its contract with the state and is proposing to give the consumers one royal double-crossing.

The City of Hope will vote July 5 on a proposal to establish a municipal ice plant. We had expected to oppose it, in view of the fact that the ice company, although a week late, had complied with the price-reduction order. Now, with its injunction proceeding, the company proposes to nullify its previous action, and the city should promptly and vigorously uphold the municipal ice plant proposal at the special election.

It is yet doubtful, however, whether the municipal plant ever will be built. The voters should approve action of the city council, if for no other reason, merely to give the council full power to meet developments as they occur in the courts.

We have been dubious over the municipal plant proposal because if the regulatory law is constitutional we can't see how the municipal plant can sell ice at a cut price without consent of the private utility at a public hearing before the Railroad Commission.

If the law is unconstitutional, then of course the price question is wide open, just as the matter of establishing new plants is already wide open.

There is one more matter to be remembered, before the city actually proceeds with the construction of an ice plant. If the new low price of ice is maintained by the company without future trouble, then the city should go slow about the business of sinking fifteen thousand dollars in new machinery and a new public business. For the city already has one plant and one business—the light and water plant—upon which a reduction in price has been tacitly promised next year.

It would be a better service to the consumers, it seems to us, if the city government predicated its entering the ice business upon the guarantee of being able to reduce prices in the business it already is engaged in, when, and as, promised.

This is written as a caution only. We don't know what 1933 will bring forth in the way of prosperity, or further adversity. The city ought, in its business undertakings this year, to fortify the light plant against any popular raid upon its earnings and reserves next spring in case the people are of a mind to make such a raid. The municipal light plant still stands as the great revenue and tax producer of the city government, which we doubt the people always appreciate as they should.

Once the people have approved the council's action, by the referendum next July 5, and the Southern Ice is still determined to test out the state law and go back to 60-cent ice—the field is wide open for the city's entering the ice-manufacturing business.

This newspaper stands where it always has stood—for the full utilization of the revenues of the light plant for the development of whatever public enterprises will bring greater ease and greater happiness to the people of this city.

Building a municipal ice plant, when that necessity presents itself, is one of these.

Eleven Laws Are To Be Voted On

November Election Will Present Many Problems for Voters

Seven proposed amendments and four initiatives will be voted on at the general election in November. If petitions for the 11 proposals are filed on or before July 7 in the office of Secretary of State J. F. McDonald in the state capital, at Little Rock, proposals.

Following the filing of the petitions, the proposed amendments and initiatives must be advertised four months in order that the people may become acquainted with them.

The proposed amendments and initiatives, which will be the last day for publication of intention to file the initiative acts for which the petitions are being circulated are as follows:

An amendment to exempt homesteads from taxation, except from improvement taxes, sponsored by Tom J. Campbell and others.

An amendment for a "split" session of the legislature, to provide for a four year term of office for executive state officers, to provide for the recall of certain executive officers, to prohibit the creation of new boards, offices or commissions to provide for the payment of all state funds into the state treasury and to regulate the appropriation of moneys, sponsored by D. A. Bradham and others.

An initiative act to make certain changes in the state government to provide a more economical and more efficient control, sponsored by D. A. Bradham, being an enabling act in connection with the amendment above.

An initiative act for reorganization of the state government, to abolish certain state boards, commissions, secretaries and offices, sponsored by Paul J. Clark and others.

An amendment to present issuance of additional highway bridge or road district bonds except by a two-thirds vote of the people, sponsored by Mrs. Ella Hackett and others.

An amendment to reduce the state property tax to one-half mill and to enact a one per cent general sales tax, sponsored by William McComb and others, an enabling act to the foregoing proposed amendment.

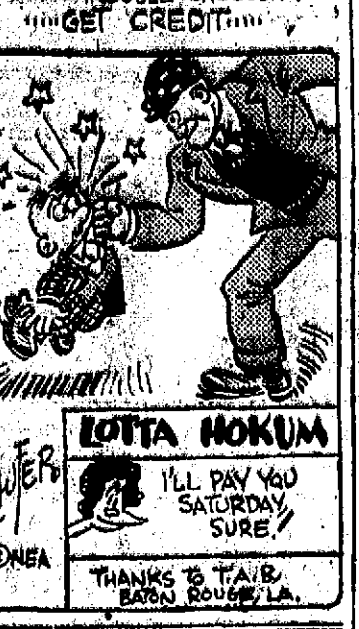

An amendment to abolish certain state supported schools and to prohibit the creation of others sponsored by A. M. Dobbs and W. M. Thompson.

An amendment to provide for the support of common schools and to prohibit diversion of school funds to other purposes, sponsored by J. J. Doyno, M. R. Owens, C. M. Hirst, R. C. Hall, J. H. Reynolds, W. E. Phipps and others.

An initiative act to levy a privilege tax on certain public utilities to create a fund to retire indebtedness of public school districts, sponsored by H. B. Thorn and others.

Plow Helps Fight Forest Fires

MESQUITA, Mont.—(AP)—Foresters regard the plow—usually thought to be purely a farming implement—as one of their best weapons against forest fires. By plowing a furrow or two around a blazing area they can quickly establish a fire line. Where the terrain is not extremely rugged, a reversible sidehill plow can be used.

FAYETTEVILLE.—Arkansans will be represented on the 14th annual Farmers' Week program, to be held here by the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, August 2-5, by a number of its prominent citizens in education, agriculture, and organizations. Dan T. Gray, dean of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, has directed Arkansas' Farmers' Week for the last 9 years, and it has been under his direction and leadership that this annual event has grown to one of the nation's largest farm events.

Arkansas speakers on the program include Stanley Andrews, editor of the Arkansas Farmer and prominent in the agricultural affairs of the state; Mrs. Edwin Bevins, chairman of the Junior Section of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Arkansas; and formerly state president of the Federation; George Vaughn of the University of Arkansas School of Law who was formerly a prominent attorney in Little Rock and an active member of the Tax Commission; and C. E. Prall, dean of the University of Arkansas College of Education and a member of the Executive Board of the Deans of Colleges and Schools of Education in the United States.

Text: Romans 8:28.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 26.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The quarter's lessons have taken us through the Book of Genesis—from the story of earthly beginnings and the early history of Israel to the end of the first phase of Israel's history in the going down of the people to Egypt. Through these lessons have been drawn from only one book of the Bible, they have sketched and suggested great and important matters.

In the first lesson we have had a view of creation and of the origin of sin from the standpoint of a spiritual interpretation. In this the predominant thought has been the supremacy of the spirit, or life, at the center and source of the universe; the thought of creation as a movement from chaos to order; and the thought of man as inherently a part of all that is true and good, made in the image and likeness of God.

No conception of man has been nobler than this linking of him with all that is best, and in that conception was laid the foundation for the highest religion.

In Abraham we have seen ancient ideals personified and in action, a man with the impulse of progress and with the adventure of faith moving out from his old environment into a new world of opportunity—the whole pioneer spirit of religion and life embodied in him and his achievement.

We have seen Abraham's successor, Isaac, emulating his father's ideal of peace, and Jacob coming to a higher idealism through wavering and cowardly earlier activities. The record has not all been upon the same high plane, but through it all there moves a sense of responsibility and an ideal, a conception of social welfare and prosperity, but along with it in the highest places of the story a regard for honesty and an righteousness. From the checked story of Jacob we come to the dramatic and tremendous portrayal of Joseph—a story unsurpassed in all literature for the fact with which it has been told in its regard for high lights and effective contrasts.

We have seen the trickiness and wavering of Jacob in Jacob's breaking out a fresh in some of his sons, especially in their dealing with Joseph; but we have seen evil traits refined by suffering and experience, and a man like Judah, who had failed to save his brother from seeming disaster, under the influence of this new experience willing to sacrifice himself for his brethren and for his father's comfort.

The story and the lessons for the quarter have ended in the spectacular scene of Jacob's coming down to Egypt and his reception by Pharaoh. The teachings of the lessons as they stand out from the quarter as a whole, are bold and unmistakable. They emphasize the nature and power of faith, the necessity and reality of character in all human enterprise, and the broad truth that faithfulness and character bring their reward while sin brings results of evil and suffering that are as sure and unmistakable.

This conception was later to be modified in the history of Israel, as it was, in fact modified, in the history

There will be three beautiful prizes awarded to first, second and third winners, besides many other gifts from the merchants sponsoring the revue.

Each business firm can sponsor a little boy or girl who will represent his or her firm, or entries can be made at the theater by Mr. Faye on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. There will be many unique costumes and novel combinations seen in the revue as the parents or merchants can use their own ideas as to designs and dress of their entry.

The revue will be in addition to the screen attraction, "Reserved For Ladies," with Leslie Howard as leading man.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S LIFE IN WORDS AND PICTURES

As a boy of 6, on his father's 500-acre farm in Groton, Conn., is the life story of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late President Theodore Roosevelt and descendant of a line of Roosevelts who emigrated from Holland and settled in New York state in 1644.

Born January 30, on the 500-acre Dutchess county estate of his father's vice president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad. 1900—Graduated from Groton, a fashionable school for boys, where he was manager of the baseball team and played on the football team. 1904—Graduated from Harvard, where he was editor of The Critique. 1905—Married his sixth cousin, Anna Theodore Roosevelt who attended the fashionable wedding at the Roose-

Eleanor Roosevelt, a niece of President town home in New York and gave the bride in marriage. 1907—Graduated from Columbia University law school, New York, and entered practice of law. 1910—Elected to the state Senate of New York where he quickly distinguished himself by leading a long and successful filibuster against a Tammany candidate for the United States Senate. 1913—Appointed assistant secretary of the navy by President Wilson, and held that position during World War, handling most of the navy's huge purchases of supplies. 1920—Nominated for vice president, made the campaign with James M.

Cox and went down to defeat in the Harding landslide. 1921—Suddenly stricken with infantile paralysis after becoming chilled while bathing at his summer home near Campobello, Me.; after a long period as an invalid he gradually recovered use of his lower limbs by swimming in mineralized waters at Warm Springs, Ga. 1924—On crutches, made speech placing Al Smith's name before delegates at Madison Square Garden convention as a candidate for the presidential nomination. 1928—Placed Smith's name before Houston convention as a candidate for presidential nomination.

1928—Persuaded by Smith to run for governor of New York despite his reluctance because of his crippled condition; made active campaign and was elected. 1930—Re-elected governor of New York. 1932—Became candidate for Democratic presidential nomination.

Florida Farmers Promoting Celery

Lowlands Around Sanford Yielding Big New Cash Crop

SANFORD, Fla., (P)—Florida's lowlands are yielding a golden harvest of celery, a crop which has been promoted by celery growers as an "off" crop, upwards of $5,000,000 has poured into farmers' pockets for the approximately 3,000 car loads of celery shipped out of the state.

Sanford, which ordinarily ships about 20 per cent of the nation's crop, sent out this spring about 5,000 cars of celery. The water, the rail line, and being 4,900 cars. Rail shipments from the state totaled 7,802 cars, and California have been the next in celery shipments for the past decade, with New York third and Michigan fourth. Florida and California begin harvesting their crops in February and end shipments by the middle of May. The New York and Michigan crops are ready for harvest during the summer.

Sanford has been for many years the leading celery shipping center of Florida. Sarasota, however, has fought to the front within the past few years, and this season shipped nearly 25 per cent of the state's crop.

The total shipments from Sarasota county were in round numbers, 1,800 cars, with 1,175 cars produced by a single grower—the Palmer Farms. The Palmer family spent large sums draining and adapting their large tract to celery production and this year's crop, while not so large as that of last year, has brought good returns, through co-operative selling.

Florida growers this season shipped their celery to markets as far west as Denver, north to Duluth and Detroit and east to New York and Portland, Me. Later in the year, Michigan and New York celery probably will be offered on Florida markets.

Guardsmen Score Win Over Bradley

Company "A" Sharpshooters Win by Score of 5 to 4

Company "A" Sharpshooters of the Hope National Guard defeated a Bradley baseball team behind the pitching of Eubanks, hurling his first game this season, at Fair park Thursday afternoon, by a score of 5 to 4.

Eubanks held the visiting team to three scattered hits and struck eight men in the first seven innings. Manager Thomas Massey pulled him from the box on account of an ailing arm and sent in Pate to pitch the other two innings.

The first of the ninth Bradley staged a desperate rally, scoring four runs on three hits and two errors committed by his team mates, however the Bradley team fell one run short of tying the score before they were stopped by the Sharpshooters.

Harrell, Guard catcher, did most of the hitting for Hope, collecting three hits, two of which were doubles and one triple. Pate also hit a triple.

Thursday was the first time the Sharpshooters had played Bradley. The Dixon-Horney team of the Texarkana city league, scheduled to play the Sharpshooters here Sunday afternoon, have called the game off, manager Massey said Friday. Another team, "The Railroaders" of Texarkana, will play the Guards at Fair park Sunday, starting at 3:30 p. m.

15 New Uniforms For Legion Team

Little Rock Office of Loretto Donates Complete Outfit

C. S. Bundy, manager of the American Legion Junior baseball team, has received 15 new uniforms, a complete catcher's outfit, a first baseman's mitt and two dozen new baseballs, donated to the Junior team by the Little Rock branch office of the Louisiana Oil & Refining Co.

A meeting of the Junior team was held by Manager Bundy Thursday night at which time further baseball plans were discussed, the signing up of players, and determining their qualifications and age limit. The report will be sent to the local post of the American Legion for approval.

No Question About It

Milder!

YOU'RE RIGHT... there's one thing that stands out about Chesterfield. That is... they're Milder.

This means Chesterfields aren't harsh. It means they're not strong or heavy.

Early in the day, or late at night you'll find that Chesterfields are always pleasing. They are mild and yet they satisfy.

What's more they taste better, too. That's it... milder and better taste. These are the two outstanding merits of Chesterfield.

Plus... a third important advantage. Chesterfields are as pure as the water you drink... as pure as science can make them.
